the first major work of art history to focus on women artists and their engagement with the spirit world by the author of the mirror and the palette it's not so long ago that a woman's expressed interest in other realms would have ruined her reputation or even killed her and yet spiritualism in various incarnations has influenced numerous men including lauded modernist artists such as wassily kandinsky Piet Mondrian Kazimir Malevich and Paul Klee without repercussion the fact that so many radical female artists of their generation and earlier also drank deeply from the same spiritual well has been sorely neglected for too long in the other side we explore the lives and work of a group of extraordinary women from the twelfth century mystic composer and artist Hildegard of Bingen to the nineteenth century English spiritualist Georgiana Houghton whose paintings swirl like a cosmic Jackson Pollock the early twentieth century Swedish artist Hilma af Klint who painted with the help of her spirit guides and whose recent exhibition at New York's Guggenheim broke all attendance records to the desert transcendentalist Agnes Pelton who painted her visions beneath the vast skies of California we also learn about the Swiss healer Emma Kunz who used geometric drawings to treat her patients and the British surrealist and occultist Ithell Colquhoun whose estate of more than 5 000 works recently entered the Tate Gallery collection while the individual work of these artists is unique the women loosely shared the same goal to communicate with and learn from other dimensions weaving in and out of these myriad lives while sharing her own memories of otherworldly experiences Jennifer Higbie discusses the solace of ritual the gender exclusions of art history the contemporary relevance of myth the boom in alternative ways of understanding the world and the impact of spiritualism on feminism and contemporary art a radical reappraisal of a marginalized group of artists the other side is an intoxicating blend of memoir biography and art history
